Seeking Rutlish old school ties

Comment

A former student of Rutlish School is keen to make contact with his old schoolmates in time for their 50-year reunion.

Trevor Musk, who lives in Tadworth, is organising a reunion of the 1957 intake of the boys' school in Watery Way, West Wimbledon - the boys who started three years after its most famous pupil, John Major.

By trawling through old photos and piecing clues together, Mr Musk and his friends have managed to contact more than 80 of the 117 pupils from his year group.

People living as far as New Zealand, the US, Canada, Montenegro and France have expressed an interest in coming to the get-together.

But there are still a number of former students he has been unable to reach.

These include Peter Norman, a very old friend who goes back to his early years at Merton Abbey Primary School, where Peter's father was headteacher.

If you have any information about Peter Norman or the other pupils on the list, contact Mr Musk on musktj@aol.com or 07742 593 610.

Do you know these Rutlish boys? Michael Bishop, Dudley Brown, David Clarke, Terence Cleary, Mr Clegg, Norman Fisher, Howard Hill, Igo Lemanski, Philip Lowther, Russell Martin, Jon McCarthy, Ken Messenger, Barry Moore, John Parker, Graham Pink, John Plummer, David Smith, Chris Sutton, Vernon John Vincent; Peter Watts, Nick White and Norman Woollard.
